SUMMARY

Armed executive protection agent and self-taught AI builder. I work close-protection details for on-air talent at Fox News and CNN through a licensed Atlanta firm. On post downtime I taught myself to code. I built a working local-LLM robot out of a Raspberry Pi before that was common, and I now produce AI video commercials. Seventeen years making short films before any of this. Looking for remote work in AI evaluation, AI video, or technical support.

CORE SKILLS

AI / ML: LLM output evaluation, prompt engineering, agent systems, model-output review
AI video: Higgsfield AI, Google Veo, Kling, Midjourney. Hyper-real and animated commercials, start to finish
Film and post: shooting, editing, color (DaVinci Resolve, CapCut), music editing and recording
Code: Python, Bash, HTML/CSS, Git, Linux. Self-hosted and local LLMs, Raspberry Pi, terminal-driven work

PROJECTS

J-5, personal robot (2025)

Built a robot from a Raspberry Pi. Camera for the eyes, my laptop running a local model as the brain. Hand-coded it through the terminal, learning as I went, because I wanted a private model running offline before that was easy to do.

Ultronos, AI content and automation factory (2025 to now)

Built a pipeline that routes jobs across multiple image, video, and audio AI providers, runs an autonomous audit gate that checks output before release, and auto-publishes finished products to Etsy and Gumroad.

Numen / Quintiform, numerology product (2025 to now)

Built and shipped a numerology product that generates personalized readings from a structured calculation engine. Sold as a digital product.

LLM instruction systems (2026)

Wrote large versioned instruction frameworks for language models, over 10,000 words, with my own verification and audit checks built in. Heavy prompt-engineering work.

AI commercial production (2025 to now)

Learned this under a mentor who does AI commercial work. I direct Veo, Kling, Higgsfield and Midjourney off a real filmmaking background, which is why the output holds up. Hyper-real and animated. An original animated short is in the works.
